EAST COAST INDEXES HAVE ARRIVED!

Mapping the world, one street at a time

(CNN) -- Between GPS devices on your car's dashboard and digital maps of almost any locale in the world on your smartphone or laptop, it's hard to get lost these days.

Each orange Tele Atlas mapping van has six cameras, two side-sweeping lasers and a GPS on its roof.

We may take these 21st-century services for granted. But someone

"Shipments have never been faster," says dealer.

IFC announced its long awaited delivery of Indexes from the East Coast. What does this do for their dealers? "Faster shipping times," says plant manager Jim Coats. "We know how important time is these days. It's our goal to get the customer their Indexes as soon as possible. Sort of like my tomato plants, dedication results in a good product, fast."

It appears IFC is all about commitment. A good product, faster, better, that saves the customer money seems to be their goal.

IFC EMPLOYEES ANTICIPATE FILEBACKS SOON!

IFC employees say they can't wait to begin creating Filebacks for the East Coast. They all insist that nothing could be more fulfilling than creating the much needed Custom Indexes, but look forward to putting a twist on things with Filebacks.

Doris Nelson was asked how she planned to prepare for creating the much needed Filebacks. "Proper training, focus, and a healthy breakfast. That's the key," says Doris. Well, this reporter cannot wait to see Doris' work. Her Indexes are splendid. Apparently she is no rookie when it comes to making our ### Web ifc 3.0 Design online-Coming Soon!

Soon IFC dealers and customers will be able to create their own PDFs instantly from the convenience of their very own computer. IFC's IT Manager, J.L. Breazeale says, "Customers have no idea the technology they are instore for."
